Prague Crossroads (St Anne's Church)

Zlatá 211/1, Praha 1 - Staré město

The Prague Crossroads, an international spiritual centre, is one of the projects of Dagmar and Václav Havel Foundation VIZE 97. It is located in a long-deconsecrated church, founded by St Wenceslas in 927 A.D. The 14th-century Gothic church is now situated in the middle of the former Baroque convent that is currently used by the National Theatre.

The British architect of Czech origin, Eva Jiřičná, who designed the interior, played a significant part in the Prague Crossroads restoration. In the place where an altar painting once stood, there is now a work by the well-known Czech painter Adriena Šimotová entitled Ecstatic Figure.
